Herald-Gasco Food Show Opens Tuesday at Coliseum

Preparations went forward today for the opening Tuesday of the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

After the opening performance Tuesday the final show will be Wednesday. Starting time will be 7:30 p. m. for each session. Admission will be free.

The Food Institute is sponsored by the Ohio Fuel Gas Company, with co-sponsor here being The Cincinnati Herald and cooperating merchants.

Workmen will be busy Monday removing props, stage setting and equipment for the two daily performances from the traveling cooking school's special truck and trailer. All was expected to be ready for the entirely new 1959 show by starting time.

Food Institute Lecturer Harriett Wolfe and Manager Bob Eichhorn will arrive in Cincinnati Monday to conduct the two performances.

"TOUCH 'N GO!" is the title of the opening presentation. Those attending this initial show will see magic of at least two kinds—magic as performed by a stage magician, and magic of the kind that may be performed by today's housewife who uses the latest home appliances.

Both types of legerdemain are considered to have sure-fire entertainment value for Food Institute audiences.

It would be unfair to reveal all the surprises in store during the "Touch 'n GO!" show but the word is that some of the most revolutionary departures in modern cooking history will be demonstrated. Too, versatile Bob Eichhorn has turned "Houdini" in order to present some extra-curricular tricks of his own.

The homemaker seeking new ideas in foods for her family is not forgotten by Lecturer Harriett Wolfe during the "Touch 'n GO!" session. Miss Wolfe demonstrates such new dishes as Glazed Orange Cake, a colorful confection with an orange glaze topping; Oven Meal, a dinner-in-a-dish casserole, and Fruit Compote, a cooked fruit topping for tasty-toasted ice cream mounds.

The Food Institute lecturer also will give homemakers a number of tips to help ease the complicated job of housekeeping. Betty Newton, Ohio Fuel's local home service adviser, will assist on the stage with the demonstrations.

A list of highly useful prizes will be awarded to climax the "Touch 'n GO!" performance.

3 Big Missiles Fired OK at Canaveral

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla., (AP)—A spectacular sky show rocked the Cape Friday when three big ballistic missiles were launched in the span of 7½ hours.

It was reported unofficially that all the tests were successful.

As far as it was known, some sort of record was set when the powerful Titan ICBM, a bold Orion air-to-ground research rocket and a Jupiter intermediate range weapon were fired toward ocean targets.

None of the missile veterans could recall when three ballistic missiles had been launched previously in one day.

It was the third straight triumph for the 90-foot Titan, which the Air Force hopes to make operational in underground launching sites within a year. The 110-ton rocket carrying an inactive second stage, was fired on a limited range flight of about 300 miles.

Titan, first of the advanced "second generation" missiles in the U.S. arsenal, was launched successfully for the third time in 56 days by Martin Co. crewmen.

Several hours later, a B-47 jet bomber roared in over the Cape and shot a 25-foot Bold Orion test vehicle 700 miles down range. The solid fuel two-stage missile will be capable of spanning distances of more than 1,000 miles when developed.

Coast Guard Recovers 'Nose Cone' in Gulf

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., (AP)—The Coast Guard says one of its cutters recovered what appears to be the nose cone of a rocket from the Gulf of Mexico near Port Isabel, Tex., Thursday night.

The Coast Guard said it sent the cutter to pick up the yellow object after it had been spotted by a plane.

Appeasement of Russians Is Dangerous, Ike Warns

Nehru Aides Rush To Dalai Lama

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru today rushed to Indian political advisers to join the Dalai Lama still on the march along the northeast frontier.

There were indications Nehru wants to keep the Tibetan ruler under wraps during his refuge in India to avoid any incident—or statement—that might lead to an open rift with Red China.

One government source said "no harassment" of the ruler would be permitted by newsmen hurrying to reach him for a direct story on his flight from the Chinese Communists.

P. N. Menon, the Indian government's foreign press chief, was reported to be one of the advisers Nehru dispatched.

The Tibetan party of 80 was reported on the march through rugged forests along the frontier the small Indian city of Towang Sunday.

The Hindustan Standard, with close government ties, said the Nehru government was "not likely to appreciate a precipitate statement by the Dalai Lama, or itself make a statement on the precise conditions of the asylum given him before something about the Chinese reaction is known."

Several Indian newspapers expressed concern that Peiping radio broke the news that the Dalai Lama crossed the border into India before Nehru's official announcement.

"We must give serious thought," said the Hindustan Times, "to the possibility there exists in our sensitive border areas an espionage network rather more expensive than we should have believed possible."

Red China showed fears that the god-king's escape might spark a holy war against communism in the Far East. This concern was reflected in propaganda broadcasts denouncing the Tibetan rebels as operating "under the cloak of religion" and defending the Peiping's claim to being a defender of religious freedom.

Red China carefully refrained from attacking the Dalai Lama personally. All propaganda organs were brought out to charge the Tibetan uprising was instigated by "foreign reactionaries under the cloak of religion."

Peiping enlisted two clergymen identified as Chinese Catholic leaders—members of a "clique that does not recognize Rome—to defend Red Chinese religious tolerances."

In three days of meetings here the 15-nation NATO Council was reported to have endorsed fully the determination of the Western Big Three to hold on in Berlin in the face of Soviet threats and pressures.

Just how the Western powers propose to resolve the Berlin dispute in negotiations with the Soviet Union beginning at Geneva May 11 remains undecided, however. The North Atlantic Treaty was signed here ten years ago today.

Sentiment within the NATO Council appeared to be growing in favor of assigning a prominent role in any arrangement to the United Nations.

Canadian Defense Minister George Pearkes proposed Friday that in preparing for negotiations with the Soviets the Allies consider advocating that U.N. personnel stand watch along the access routes between West Berlin and West Germany.

Both the United States and France were reported cool to the idea on the theory it might weaken their wartime rights in Berlin and Germany.

Pearkes said any new Berlin arrangement worked out with the Soviets should be based upon the presently existing right of the United States, Britain and France to keep forces in West Berlin as a result of their victory over Germany in World War II.

Soviet forces are in East Berlin on the same basis but the Soviet Union has proposed to end its occupation responsibilities and turn over full authority to the East German Communist regime. Since the Soviets have a veto in the United Nations, any plan such as that proposed by Canada would have to have Soviet approval to go into effect.

Diplomatic officials reported that in Friday's closed-door meeting of the Council, several points were stressed by various speakers.

But everyone who spoke, one informant said, used the word "firmness" to describe what he thought the basic Western attitude toward the Soviet Union should be. And the point was made repeatedly that any concessions given to the Soviets must be met by equal concessions from them and must not upset the balance of power in Europe.

Another principle on which the Council members appeared to be solidly agreed was that the Big Three, with the backing of the Western allies, must not remove their troops from West Berlin. That, they stressed, would be abandoning the 2½ million people there to Communist conquest—a result which could lead to the breakdown of the Atlantic Alliance.

U.S. President Cites Need for Understanding

Soviet Using Pressure On Berlin Issue To Expand, Chief Believes

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower cautioned today against any appeasement of the Soviet Union in the Berlin crisis. He said it would be a dishonorable course and "the most dangerous one we could pursue."

Appeasement, said Eisenhower, only would embolden the Reds to step up their world domination drive.

But the President re-emphasized anew that the Western powers want to avoid war over Berlin and negotiate a settlement. In keeping open the possibility of a summit conference with the Russians, Eisenhower said of the United States and its Allies: "They seek to substitute the rule of law for the rule of force, the conference table for the battlefield."

In a major address prepared for the Gettysburg College spring convocation, Eisenhower called the Soviet move to drive the Allies out of West Berlin "a part of the continuing effort of the Communist conspiracy to attain one overriding goal: world domination."

The college, a small liberal arts school located not far from Eisenhower's country estate, awarded the President a plaque for "service to the nation."

In his speech, Eisenhower underscored what he called the need for Americans to understand the U.S. role in "strengthening the free world's nations which, with us, see our concepts of freedom and human dignity threatened by atheistic dictatorship."

The speech was carried nationwide on CBS radio.

Eisenhower coupled his appeal for firmness on Berlin with a new plea for the administration's $3,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

He singled out the free part of Viet Nam in Asia as an example of a country in urgent need of such aid to stave off the threat of Communist conquest.

He also spoke of Japan's economic problems as grave and called on Western countries to liberalize trade relations with that country—or risk Red domination of "the free world stake in the Pacific."

As for critics who want to cut the foreign aid program, Eisenhower referred to them as "uninformed Americans" who believe the United States should turn its back on its friends.

Eisenhower dealt at some length with the Berlin crisis, calling it part of a Soviet plot to win world domination.

"Against this background we understand that the mere handing over of a single city could not possibly satisfy the Communists, even though they would particularly like to eliminate what has been called the 'free world's show case behind the Iron Curtain,' he added.

"Indeed, even if we should acquiesce in the unthinkable sacrifice of two million free Germans, such a confession of weakness would dismay our friends and embolden the Communists to step up their campaign of domination."

"The course of appeasement is not only dishonorable, it is the most dangerous one we could pursue."

Alluding then to the 1938 agreement from which Hitler went on to conquest, the President said: "The world paid a high price for the lesson of Munich—but it learned it well."

By the same token, Eisenhower said, the cost of defending "freedom around the world today is high. But he termed it "a proper charge to the national security of the United States," adding that mutual security—foreign aid—and American security are synonymous.

Eisenhower said that while weakness on the part of the Allies is dangerous, "this does not mean that firmness is mere rigidity, nothing but arrogant stubbornness."

It was at that point he asserted the United States and its friends don't want war and that they prefer the conference table to the battlefield.

Tensions are created, said Eisenhower, primarily by governments and individuals "that are ruthless in seeking greater and more extensive power."

Ohio Supreme Court Judge Gets Wish, Dies in Harness

CINCINNATI (AP)—James Garfield Stewart, Ohio Supreme Court judge who combined great gusto and a scholar's mind in his life and work, said he never wanted to retire.

A dozen years ago, he told a newspaper friend, "I have noticed that in many cases a man's retirement—especially one who has been active in affairs—is soon followed by his obituary notice."

The 78-year-old Cincinnati jurist, who saw his son named to the U. S. Supreme Court, was one of his favorite away-from-court ventures—a speaking trip—when he suffered a fatal heart attack Friday in Louisville.

And Judge Stewart had been active in affairs. After years as a leading Cincinnati trial lawyer, he decided to try his hand at politics.

In his mid-50's he was elected a city councilman, and in 1938 was named Cincinnati mayor. He held the mayor's post until named to the State Supreme Court in 1947. He made an unsuccessful bid in 1944 as Republican candidate for governor against Frank J. Lausche.

The ebullient judge had a hard time keeping quiet the day last year his son, Potter Stewart, then a U. S. Appellate Court judge, was named to the U. S. Supreme Court. He had been tipped off early about the appointment but was sworn to secrecy because the announcement would not come until later in the day.

He sat through the Ohio Supreme Court session, but said later he was "so excited, it was difficult for me to synchronize my thoughts."

Judge Stewart did not confine himself to Ohio.

In 1944, he went to the GOP convention in Chicago to nominate Sen. John W. Bricker for president. He even took the unusual precaution of preparing a speech.

But he never got a chance to deliver it. Thomas E. Dewey was the big choice there. But Stewart's extemporaneous speech seconding Bricker's nomination as vice presidential candidate was a convention highlight.

Judge Stewart once flew to London to try to talk the United Nations into setting up its permanent headquarters in Cincinnati because he thought it would be a good place to get a world government started. He blamed the UN's polite refusal on "European claustrophobia."

Judge Stewart was born in Springfield. His father, a lawyer and newspaper publisher, died when the boy was eight but his mother made sure her son got an education—at Kenyon College where he made Phi Beta Kappa, and at the University of Cincinnati law school.

Judge Stewart made speeches in every city in Ohio and most of the 48 states.

In recent years he did a lot of world traveling. He addressed law students in Calcutta, the rotary club in Hong Kong and newspapermen in New Delhi.

He was divorced in 1938 from his wife, Mrs. Harriet L. Potter Stewart, who still lives in Cincinnati.

Besides his son, Potter, he leaves another son, Zeph Stewart, Harvard professor of classics; a daughter, Mrs. John Colville Taylor of Cincinnati; two sisters and five grandchildren.

Funeral services are planned next Monday at 2 p. m. at Christ Episcopal Church in downtown Cincinnati.

Darbydale Man Held in Lamb Shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Madison and Franklin County sheriff's deputies will question a 41-year-old Darbydale man today about recent lamb killings.

Franklin County Sheriff's Sgt. Donald Hall said James Dinkus was picked up at his home Friday night after a "look down the line" search of a car from which a man reportedly was seen shooting at cattle in a field.

More than 40 lambs have been mysteriously shot to death and at least 14 wounded on two farms in western Madison County in the past two weeks.

Hall said a .22 caliber rifle and ammunition was found in Dinkus' home and he was slated at Franklin County Jail here for investigation of discharging firearms.

The car in which a man was seen firing a rifle was parked on a Franklin County road between Darbydale and Harrisburg. That spot is just a few miles east of the Madison County line.

Electric Union Plans New Vote on Company Contract

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Electrical workers vote Sunday on whether to ratify a contract agreement which would end the month-long strike against Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co.

The agreement was reached between union and management negotiators late Friday night after an all-day session.

Federal Mediator H. J. Montoney, who sat in on the talks, said terms of the agreement will not be announced until after the workers vote on it.

About 1,300 members of Locals 1466 and 832, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, have been striking against the utility since midnight, Feb. 28, when their old contracts expired.

The company has been using supervisory personnel to keep power flowing to customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties.

Wages have been the chief issue in the strike.

Two previous wage offers were voted on by the union's membership. One was turned down by both locals. The other gained acceptance of Local 832 but was rejected by Local 1466. The vote of Local 832 was then termed invalid by the union's international representative, James Knight, and the strike continued.

Friday, union-management negotiators went into session at 2 p. m. Each side met separately with Montoney until the mediator decided joint negotiations could be held to consummate the agreement at around 11:30 p. m.

Voting by the union's membership will be held in Columbus and Chillicothe at 1 and 4 p. m. Sunday.

Montoney said the union negotiating committee will recommend acceptance of the contract offer.

The utility originally had proposed a 3½ per cent general wage increase, then upped its offer to 4½ per cent. The union started out with a 6 per cent demand, then came down to about 5 per cent.

During most of the strike the loss of extra pay for linemen was a major stumbling block. The IBEW sought a 10-cent hourly increase for top linemen in addition to the general wage increase. But after getting nowhere on that demand, the union dropped it early last week.

Local 1466 has a membership of about 90 in central Ohio. Local 832 has around 400 members in southern Ohio.

Giant Whooping Cranes Head for Nesting Area

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., (AP)—At least 11 giant whooping cranes flew north today toward their summer nesting grounds in Northwest Territory, Canada.

An aerial check Friday showed 11 of the 32 rare whoopers which wintered at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge north of here had departed.

The big birds, the last flock in existence, normally start north about April 4, refuge manager Claude Lard said.

Montpelier Patrolman Receives Valor Award

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 28-year-old Toledo native who has been a member of the State Highway Patrol less than three years was presented the patrol's highest award here Friday.

For his courage in the capture of an escaped federal prisoner last June, Patrolman LeRoy J. Verbon won the annual O. W. Merrill award. Merrell, who was state director of highways when the Highway Patrol was formed 25 years ago, made the presentation of the inscribed .38 caliber target pistol. Verbon, stationed at the Montpelier post, was cited for his capture of Earl E. Parker of Canton whom Verbon wounded in an exchange of gunfire at Hicksville. Parker had escaped from a Fort Wayne, Ind., jail.

NSL Insurance Not Taxable

Questions of interest to ex-service men should be given to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the Court House.

Q—Is the dividend which I received on my National Service Life Insurance in 1958 to be reported as income for tax purposes?

A—Dividends, the same as any other benefit received from the Veterans Administration, is not considered as income for tax purposes. However, if a veteran leaves his dividend on deposit with the Veterans Administration, for the purpose of drawing interest, that amount of money which is interest, is taxable, and must be shown on your income tax forms.

Q—Is there any way that a veteran, who has dropped his government life insurance, able to pick it up again?

A—At the present time, the answer is no. However, I understand that there is a law pending in Congress which would allow a veteran a certain limited time in which he can pick up his government life insurance. This law has the backing of several of the veterans organizations, and if it passes, all veterans will be notified at once.

Q—MY HUSBAND, a veteran of World War I, has been dead for over 10 years. I have never made application for a Government Headstone for his grave. Is it too late now?

A—It is never too late to make application for a Government Headstone.

Q—I have had a recent emergency operation for a service connected disability. Is it possible to get the Veterans Administration to pay the hospital bill, since it was for a service connected disability?

A—It may be possible, provided the V.A. is notified of your emergency hospitalization within 72 hours. If this was not done, they cannot assume the bill involved.

Q—In other words, the fact that I have had an operation for my service connected disability does not mean a thing to the V.A. Is that correct?

A—That is not correct. The V.A. is very interested in the fact that you have received an operation for your service connected disability. I suggest that we secure statements from your doctor, and the hospital concerning the operation, and send it to the V.A., so they can give consideration to allowing an increase in your service connected disability compensation.

Ingrid Bergman Back In Hollywood Haunts

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ingrid Bergman, 43, is back in Hollywood after a 10-year absence.

A double Oscar winner, she will present the Academy Award statuette Monday night to the producer of the best motion picture of 1958. She arrived at International Airport Friday with her third husband, Lars Schmidt, a theater impresario.

GOLD STAR TRICK — The new Gold Star Award gas ranges can perform magic for any homemaker — and that small gold star box on the floor will emit a cloud of smoke on command from "magician" Bob Eichhorn. He'll demonstrate during the "Touch 'n GO!" session of the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute.

Magic for Modern Homemakers Performed on Coliseum Stage

A magician's tricks may be almost unbelievable, but they're not any more astounding than the magic that is possible with the latest kitchen ranges.

Proof of the statement will be given those attending the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute Tuesday and Wednesday. They'll see kitchen magic the likes of which they've never seen before, promises Harriett Wolfe, Food Institute lecturer.

The beautiful part of all this conjuring, she adds, is that this is not unattainable magic—it's magic that a housewife may have right in her own home.

During the Institute, some member of the audience will have a chance to perform some of this magic herself. She'll get an opportunity to light the burners on a modern gas range by remote control.

There's magic, too, in the four-minute broiling possible with another modern gas range, and this will be demonstrated during the Food Institute.

These startling engineering advances will be coupled with others that will be shown those attending the Food Institute.

For example, there's the thermostatic top burner — sometimes called "the burner with a brain" — that allows food to be cooked to perfection without burning or sticking while the food gets no attention whatsoever from the cook.

Over meat thermometers, automatic rotisserie cooking and finger-tip regulation of cooking time are among other gas range advancements that get full attention during the Food Institute.

It all goes to prove that you don't need to be a magician to perform magic today—any housewife can perform magic in her own kitchen whenever she wishes.

Christine Set For 3rd Try At Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—Christine Jorgensen says she will make her third try for a marriage license some time in the next six weeks.

The entertainer, who went to Denmark in 1952 as a man and came back announcing doctors had changed her into a woman, was denied a license for the second time Friday, because her birth certificate lists her as a male.

The first denial of a license to wed Howard J. Knox, 38, a Washington statistician, came because he needed papers to show he had been divorced. He obtained them, and Friday he and Christine tried again.

City clerk Herman Katz spent an hour and a half pondering her claim to womanhood with two assistants of the City Corporation Counsel. His denial left the way open for Christine to apply again with "legally competent evidence."

"I need more papers, let's put it that way," said Christine. "Seven years ago," she explained, "when I came back from Europe, I asked my lawyer if it was necessary to change my birth certificate. He said no, but apparently I will need a new one."

Her lawyer, Roger Cowan, said this would take about six weeks, and requires certain medical records.

Government May Modernize Its Cost of Living Index

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department wants to revise its consumer price index because American spending habits have changed a great deal in 10 years.

Among the reasons: Americans now buy more television sets, cars, and home appliances—and less dress clothes.

The present index is based on the spending habits of Americans in 1950. To get the index, the government prices about 300 commodities and services in 45 cities.

The index, popularly known as the cost of living index, comes out every month. The system for figuring it could be revised by January 1964 for an estimated $4,600,000, the department says.

In testimony made public today, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell asked a House Appropriations subcommittee for funds to start the revision.

Mitchell testified that the index' basket of commodities, prices and services was growing out of date because of these changes in American life:

1. Families are larger. There are more old people and more children.

2. The population has grown 15 per cent since 1950 and has shifted geographically. A higher proportion of families now live in the Southwest and West.

3. Families are moving to the suburbs, where people spend less on dress clothes and outside entertainment and more on houses and gardens.

4. Family incomes are higher, even when account is taken of higher prices. More money is spent on television, cars, travel, education and medical care. A smaller proportion of income is spent on food. Food expenditures themselves go heavily for frozen foods, meats and fresh fruits.

Firemen Summoned To CCA Plant Here

Firemen said damage was estimated at $25. Several boards on a floor were burning, they said.

Deaths

MRS. LUCILLE C. HAGGARD

Mrs. Lucille C. Haggard, 60, New Holland, died Thursday at Fayette Memorial Hospital, Washington, C. H. where she had been a patient since Sunday. She had been ill for the past 13 years. She was the widow of Harley Haggard.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Herbert E. Louis, New Holland, and a brother, Mr. Emerson Chapman, Washington, C. H.

Funeral services were held today at the Gerstner Funeral Home, Washington, C. H.

Driver Transferred To Vets Hospital

Adell S. Hartway, 27, Stuttgart, Ark., injured in a car crash here Thursday evening, was transferred to the Veterans Hospital in Dayton yesterday.

Hartway's condition was listed as "fairly good" here yesterday. He suffered chest injuries, lacerations of the head and face and arm injuries.

Discharged from service this week, Hartway apparently was en route to his home in Arkansas. His auto, traveling toward Circleville on the Lancaster Pike, crashed into another car at Main and Mingo Sts., continued on and struck a picket fence and then a tree.

Maynard E. Millet, 32, Route 1, Stoutsville, was the driver of the other car. He was slightly injured.

4-H Chief Urges Recruiting in City

CLEVELAND (AP)—It's important that Ohio's 4-H clubs reach boys and girls in the cities, the state director of the farm club says.

H. W. Harshfield told a meeting of 300 club advisers from 22 north-eastern Ohio counties Friday that the 4-H movement, traditionally made up of members in rural areas, is expanding into the cities because there is a need for them.

"We try to confine ourselves to subjects related to home economics and agriculture," he said, "but that's pretty broad."

"More than half of our agricultural students in Ohio come from cities," he added.

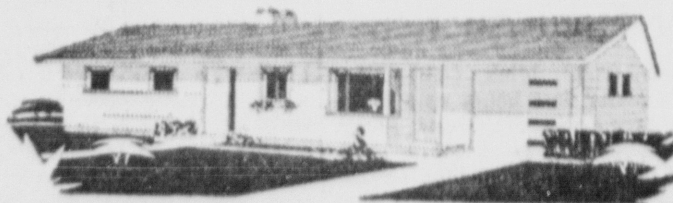

"Forty per cent of all jobs are related to agriculture," Harshfield continued, "so it's important to reach the boys and girls in the cities."

Akron Loan Office Robbed of $6,900

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Two men robbed a savings and loan company branch office of an estimated $6,900 Friday and sped away in a car driven by an accomplice. The two gunmen forced three women clerks of the Arlington Plaza branch of the Akron Savings & Loan Co. to life on the floor.

The robbers then ordered the manager, Arnold K. Letzler, to help stuff currency from cash drawers into paper sacks. Shortly after the gunmen fled, their car stolen in Trumbull County, was found abandoned on Waterloo Road.

Worship Every Week ---

'Rejected' Is Main Theme For Presbyterian Services

"Rejected?" This is the theme for the worship at the Presbyterian Church the first Sunday after Easter, 10:30 a. m.

The Scripture will be read from the parables spoken by Jesus during the last week (Matthew 21:28 to 22:14). These raise a vital question in our present day thinking as to whether the Kingdom of God on earth can be stopped! Could rejection of the chief corner stone stop the completion of the building of God? But who would think of such a thing! In light of the parables the real question for us becomes, Who is rejected — the "chief cornerstone," or the builders?

How can we go on without settling the question in our own minds as to where we stand in our relationship to Him? This we must know—now. Our future depends upon the answer which we must seek and find.

During the worship new members will be received into the Church. The Choir, under direction of Mrs. Clark Will, will sing the anthem, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked" by O'Hara. Hymns will include: "Come, Ye Faithful," "The Church's One Foundation" and "On Our Way Rejoicing." At the organ, Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play, "Improvisation on Holy Spirit, Truth Divine," by Walton, "Verence," and "Once To Every Man and Nation" by Ton-Y-Botel.

At 7 p. m., the Westminster Fellowship Youth Group will meet in the chapel room for devotions and program, Sharon Hull moderator.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Work May Cure Delinquency

Philadelphia is about to start an experimental project to combat juvenile delinquency which may provide an excellent working model for other areas troubled by high incidences of teenage crime to follow. Placed under the control of the Welfare Department of the city, 50 boys between 16 and 18 years of age who have had brushes with the law will be offered 50 cents an hour for cleaning and maintaining one of Philadelphia's largest parks.

With a maximum of 20 hours a week for 10 weeks during the school term and 40 hours a week for 10 weeks during the summer months, the boys will have an opportunity to earn pocket money and prove themselves the two greatest needs of the rebels are spending money and a chance to accomplish something useful.

Use of labor recruited from the ranks of social offenders is not new, but the recently established Youth Conservation Commission of Philadelphia is a unique attempt to use such a labor force as a tool to combat juvenile delinquency. Healthful outdoor work in the spring and summer months, plus added inducements such as good free lunches and work clothing provided by the Welfare Department should be a popular body.

An initial appropriation of $25,000 will launch the program designed after the Civilian Conservation Corps of two decades ago. The boys will perform such tasks as clearing fallen trees, trimming shrubbery, maintaining bridle paths and improving picnic sites within the park. They will not replace regular maintenance crews, but will concentrate on activities not normally performed by the city. Nor will there be any "made" work for the boys to do.

The 50 boys chosen for the project will earn their money, but more important, will be given the first chance many of them have had to perform some useful function in the society they hold in contempt. It will not be surprising if the City of Brotherly Love finds itself with a successful program under way—one which would be worthy of emulation by other communities.

Magnetic Sheath Is Hopeful

In making experiments with the magnetic sheath which surrounds Earth, American scientists are engaging in the most practical and hopeful tests yet generated by the space age.

What could be more important to the human race than to find means of vetoing use of missiles with hydrogen or other destructive warheads?

A trip to Mars or Venus stirs the imagination. But whether there might be useful results is conjecture. The advantages of manipulating the contents of the space immediately above our heads so that the avenues to world conquest would be closed to warmongers, however, are here and now.

Whether such blockading of missiles is feasible has not been determined. But the fact that scientists are engaged in the effort is the most reassuring news since the atom was split and the nuclear age began to unfold. It should help to quiet the critics who are saying that the leadership of the United States is not putting first things first.

Development of the most potent in destructive weapons must be continued, of course, but a victory in that field would be insignificant compared to a discovery that prevented their effective use.

It is an axiom that for every aggressive weapon, there is a defensive one. Sometimes in history the defensive mechanism was not found soon enough to avert swiping political upsets and great human misery. The hope is that this one will not be delayed so long that the despots become too well entrenched.

Courtin' Main

Heathens are people who don't quarrel over religion.

Reds Invade Buddhism

By George Sokolsky

Among the religions which the Soviet Universal State finds it necessary to destroy is Buddhism which prevails in such countries as Tibet, China, India, Mongolia, Korea, Japan and other countries including parts of Soviet Russia.

The influence of Buddhism has been enormous in these countries, particularly in the form of Lamaism which is centered in Tibet and whose votaries accept the Dalai Lama as God.

The method by which a person becomes a god is called metempsychosis which simply means that we are all constantly passing through a succession of lives; that the soul of man never dies but finds refuge in some living body at the moment which we call death. So, when a Dalai Lama dies, his soul takes refuge in the body of a babe born at that moment. It is a doctrine of the eternity, the everlastingness, to coin a word, of life.

There have been many Buddhas, but the ones most revered are Sakyami (Gotama), the founder of Buddhism, and Amitabha (in Chinese, Omote Fuh) who is especially worshipped in Mongolia and northern China. Another god-person is Kuan Y, the goddess of mercy, who in distant history was a male but is now universally a female. She is often represented with a child in her arms.

Buddhism is a product of the life, the conduct, the theories of a person who was born, as some say, in 625 B.C., a prince of a small kingdom near Nepal. His name was Gotama, although his clan name is often given as Sakyami. At the age of 25, he decided to become a recluse; he left his father's court; lived an ascetic life for five years. He became a beggar and "he entered into a state of reverie, emitting a bright light and reflecting on the four modes of truth."

He then preached his doctrine. Monasteries were established and monastic vows were binding. His teachings are contained in the sutras, or laws, which all Buddhists accept and the possession of which not only brings knowledge but health and good luck.

LAFF-A-DAY

"HEY, YOU . . ."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

HORSE RACE addicts in far-off Pakistan had a 3-year-old named "Flag of State" who was rated on a par then with Tim Tam and Bold Ruler. For the big race of the season, however, Flag of State proved an all-Pakistan bust. He fell sound asleep at the barrier, while the crowd watched in stunned silence.

Investigation proved, however, that Flag of State was not to blame. Crooks had administered sedatives—and made the dose too strong. The indignant owner, only partly mollified, fired his jockey and renamed the horse Mr. Sandman.

Jerome Beatty cites the case of the forgetful husband who was sent by his wife to the supermarket to replenish her supply of a favorite cheese. Confused by all the display counters, he couldn't remember which way to turn. So he strode up to the manager and commanded sternly: "Take me to your liederkranz."

Select Doctor, Don't Change

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Don't shop around for a family doctor.

It is your prerogative, of course, to select the physician you want to care for you and your family. But once you select him, stick with him.

You are only being unfair to yourself if you go from doctor to doctor seeking different answers to the same questions and complaints.

Doctors are human and they don't know everything. Moreover, they realize it far better than you do.

If you aren't satisfied with the way treatment is progressing, resist the temptation to visit another physician. Instead, ask your own doctor to obtain the advice of another physician, if he thinks it is necessary.

Your doctor is interested in curing your ills. While he regards you as a human being, not as a business statistic, it stands to reason that it is bad business to lose a patient.

I'm sure that your doctor would welcome the suggestion for a consultation with another physician, possibly a specialist, if you request it and he thinks it advisable.

Certainly you realize that two doctors can't treat the same patient for the same thing at the same time without knowing what the other is doing, or even that the other physician is on the job.

You are the one who is bound to suffer.

Now there is another reason, too, why you should have one doctor and stick with him. Such a doctor—and I recommend as a rule, a general practitioner as a family doctor—knows the history of your past illnesses. And he knows how you would normally react in a good, healthy condition.

Thus, when he is called upon to treat you, he goes to work with a background of valuable information.

This is especially important in an emergency.

For example, you may have a weak heart or an allergy that another physician wouldn't know about. In an emergency, a doctor seldom has time to check into your medical history.

Isn't it much better to be treated by someone who already knows how you will react to various drugs?

Because of this, I suggest you carry the name, address and phone number of your doctor along with your own identification papers. In an emergency, someone can summon the doctor who best knows how to treat you.

Question and Answer
Mr. J. G.: What could cause gray hair in a 17-year-old girl? Is there a deficiency of some sort?

Answer: Gray hair in a 17-year-old is probably an hereditary characteristic and does not ordinarily indicate a deficiency of any kind.

Ohio GI's Iranian Wife Sells Ring, Says Marriage Is Over

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A distraught U.S. Army sergeant found his missing Iranian wife Thursday, but she told him she had pawned her wedding band and was no longer married to him.

Beautiful black-haired Nosrat Javandi Newman had been in Letterman Army Hospital here since Feb. 21 with a serious heart ailment. She checked out on March 24, telling her doctors that she would go home to Sgt. James Newman at Ft. Lewis Wash.

But she remained in San Francisco instead.

Newman spent three days searching for her in San Francisco before he found her.

"I'm not married anymore," she told him. "I'm happy by myself. I want to die like this."

She still wore the sergeant's engagement ring but when asked about the wedding band answered, "I hooked it. I got $5."

Doctors said she has heavy scar tissue on her heart, apparently from rheumatic fever.

"The doctors were right," Newman cried. "They said the lack of oxygen (from the heart ailment) would change her personality."

and they will work out their other problems.

Iranian Consul General Majid Rahnama talked with the couple for an hour after their reunion.

"Everything will be okay," he predicted.

Newman, of Hamilton, Ohio, and the daughter of an Iranian Army officer were married in Tehran in 1954 when the sergeant was there on a military mission.

When they came to the United States in 1955, she stayed with his parents in Columbus, Ohio, while he served a tour of duty in Korea. Newman is stationed at Ft. Lewis, where the couple was reunited briefly.

She went to Ft. MacArthur Army Hospital in Los Angeles Feb. 10, then transferred to Letterman.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—It has taken the Western allies about four months just to reach a point where they seem agreed on standing firm on the Berlin crisis.

They had been agreed for some weeks on willingness to negotiate with the Soviet Union to settle the crisis peacefully. But if they know—much less being agreed on—what they want to negotiate, it's still locked up in their heads.

Chances are they don't know—yet, and won't until they've done some more weeks of talking. All of which is pretty good evidence of two things:

1. How thoroughly Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev shook them up with his demand last November that the United States, Britain and France get their troops out of West Berlin which is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

2. How thoroughly allied policy in Europe has been frozen for years and how thoroughly it was unprepared to meet a sudden twist in events like the one pulled by Khrushchev.

The Allies haven't lacked time for plenty of discussion since last November.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, after conferring with Khrushchev, visited President Eisenhower, President Charles de Gaulle of France and West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

His visits seemed something less than fully satisfactory from the standpoint of allied unity. Reports of disagreement between him and Eisenhower—or, perhaps, it would be better to say their failure to see eye-to-eye—leaked out.

Then this week the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany met for two days before the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's 15-member nations opened their session here.

As late as Thursday afternoon it was reported the Western allies were split, with Britain off on one side suggesting they concentrate on solving the Berlin situation even at the cost of delaying unification of Germany.

To put it another way: There have been reports the British were for making concessions to the Soviets to get over the Berlin hump.

Then Thursday night NATO spokesmen sought to paint a picture of unity at last among the Big Three and West Germany with British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd represented as taking a stand for German reunification, too.

In short: the NATO spokesmen attempted to show allied unity in determination to withstand Soviet pressure for concessions.

But if the West isn't ready to make concessions—in return for Soviet concessions—there doesn't seem much reason for negotiations.

As for concessions: It seems to this writer the West has already made a big one. For years the States—had insisted on the reunification of East and West Germany through free elections.

Now talk of reunification through free elections seems to have disappeared from the speech of West-ern spokesmen. Actually, the idea of uniting the two Germanys through free elections has been unrealistic from the beginning.

The reason: The Soviet Union is against it and this year Khrushchev again brushed aside any such idea. And no wonder. East Germany is a Russian satellite. Moscow isn't going to chance losing anything it has its hands on.

It would lose East Germany in any free election set up to choose a single German government which would decide whether it wanted to be pro-West or pro-Communist.

There's pretty good reason to believe the 18 million East Germans would vote against any connection with communism which was rammed down their throats. But even if they were pro-Communist they are outnumbered by the 50 million West and pro-West Germans.

General Uses Horse Sense

Solving Boy's Horse Query

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army, which abolished cavalry years ago, used old-fashioned horse sense in answering a boy's plea for help with his horse.

The boy with the problem is Philip Peatman, 11, Madera, Calif.

Philip addressed a letter to the "Chief of Cavalry," United States Army, Washington.

He explained he has two brothers, 12 and 6, and a 19-year-old horse.

The horse, Philip wrote, "rides well in the field but when we are coming home he wants to run back to the corral."

What Philip wanted to know was: "How would you stop him from running back to the corral? No matter how hard we pull he won't stop."

Although the Army abolished its chief of cavalry before World War II, the boy's letter fell into good hands in the adjutant general's office, Brig. Gen. Frank S. Henry, whose present job is handling the assignment of general officers, started his military career as a cavalryman and is rated one of the best horsemen in the Army.

The general offered two suggestions to solve Philip's problem. First, he recommended using a double bridle with both a curb and snaffle bit, but urged Philip to talk this suggestion over with his dad "because some horses do not react too well with these bits."

The general's second piece of advice was that Philip and his brothers, when returning home after a ride in the field, pull the rein on only one side. That would turn the horse in a small circle until he slows his gait.

Henry added that he fully realized that it is "pretty hard to teach a 19-year-old horse any new tricks, but I believe that if you will follow me or both of the suggestions, you should get a slower ride home."

Receiving Stolen Gun Brings Prison Term

POMEROY, Ohio (AP)—A 17-year prison term has been meted out to Lawrence E. Gavin, 22, who pleaded guilty to receiving a stolen gun which he sold in Portsmouth, Ohio. Gavin was held by police for investigation last month after he was involved in the death of 4-year-old Joseph A. Sottosanti Jr. Gavin told authorities he fell from a cooler in his beer carry-out store in nearby Middleport and accidentally landed on the child. No charges were filed in that case.

Make a Plan Before You Plant Garden

Planning is important when it comes to small plots of ground used for your family vegetable garden. Good plans will mean a continuous harvest of different vegetables and extra quantity for winter storage, says William Brooks, Extension Horticulturist at the Ohio State University.

Consider family likes and dislikes and the space available for the vegetable garden before deciding on the vegetables to plant. Tables such as peas or beans; two leafy vegetables such as kale, spinach, or beet greens; two pod vegetables such as peas or beans; two root crops, including carrots, beets, radishes, or turnips; tomatoes and cabbage and such other vegetables that the family would choose.

Here are some other things the specialist suggests you consider: Early maturing crops should be planted next to each other. Sweet corn will pollinate better when two or more rows are planted together.

Tall-growing plants, such as corn and stalked tomatoes, should be planted together.

Vine crops, such as cucumbers, melons, and squash, should be placed on one side of the garden where they will not interfere with other crops in the garden. Perennial vegetables, like rhubarb and asparagus, should be planted on one side of the garden so they will not be destroyed in seed-bed preparation. Allow enough space between rows and plants for good growth and easy care.

If you plan before you plant, Brooks says, it is easier to order seeds, and supplies before the garden supply rush has started. Planning also helps to assure that you will be satisfied with the variety and vegetable choices you have available for family meals.

Robert Huffer Addresses Junior Women's Club Meet

Robert Huffer was guest speaker when the Junior Women's Club held its April meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Christy, Lincoln Drive. Mr. Huffer presented a program on wills, trusts and guardianships. He stressed the importance of making wills particularly when minor children are involved and when considerable property is owned. He also pointed out that wills should be kept up-to-date as the Legislature may from time to time enact laws which would invalidate a will already made.

Huffer discussed the Irrevocable or Testamentary Trust, and also described the advantages of setting up Revocable Living Trusts whereby a considerable amount may often be saved from taxation. In conclusion, Mr. Huffer answered many questions from the group on these very important subjects.

A sale of goods made by the blind was conducted by Mrs. Alma S. Bean, Supervisor of Production and Sales, Services for the Blind, Columbus. Mrs. Bean told how the goods are made and presented interesting sidelights about several of the sightless workers.

Concluding the program, the club quartet, composed of Mrs. Ted Wolfe, Mrs. Earl Weaver, Mrs. William Speakman and Mrs. Richard Pettit gave their rendition of "Angry".

Mrs. Stanley Spring presided at the meeting which was opened with devotions by Mrs. Sterling Poling. A short poem was given by members as they answered the roll call.

Guests present for the meeting were Mrs. William Snyder, Mrs.

William Sprout, and Mrs. William A. Ford. A new member, Mrs. Edwin Eaton, was also present. Mrs. Donald L. Archer and Mrs. Donald Vogel were elected as new members of the club.

Mrs. Ted Wolfe will serve as chairman of the scholarship committee this year. A $300 award will be made to the high school girl graduate in Pickaway County judged to be the most outstanding and who desires to continue her education toward a career in either nursing or teaching. The name of the winner will be announced at her commencement exercises in May.

To provide for their scholarship fund, the club will sponsor "The Mikado" on April 25 at 8:30 p. m. in the Circleville High School auditorium. This musical comedy by Gilbert and Sullivan will be presented by the Atomic Area Operetta Guild. Tickets are available from all club members.

Members were urged to donate blood during the next visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile on April 28. Mrs. William Speakman and Mrs. Robert Christy will represent the club as delegate and alternate, respectively, at the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in Toledo, April 14, 15 and 16.

The meeting was closed by repeating the Club Collect in unison, after which refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Gordon Walters.

The next meeting of the club will be in the home of Mrs. William Speakman on May 7 with members of the Monday Club as invited guests. Mrs. Lewis Cook, Jr. who is a native of Spain, will speak at the May meeting.

Mrs. Alkire Gets President Post Of Salem WSCS

The Salem Womens Society of Christian Service met Thursday evening at the church. Twenty-two members and one guest were present.

The devotionals were led by Mrs. Darl McAfee who read "Rapidly Growing Nations". The group sang "Lead On, O King Eternal", and "Jesus Shall Reign". A playlet was given by Miss Betty Boldoser, Mrs. Ira Barr, Mrs. Robert Farmer and Mrs. McAfee. The benediction followed.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Fairy Alkire. She announced that a district officer training day will be held May 5 at Salem Church.

Since the last meeting 12 sick calls have been made by the members.

The election of officers was held with these results: Mrs. Fairy Alkire, president; Mrs. Ira Barr, vice president; Mrs. Donald Alcorn, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Marvin Konkle, secretary; Mrs. Robert Farmer, assistant secretary; Mrs. Robert Arledge, treasurer and Mrs. Charles Boldoser, Sr., assistant treasurer.

A nominating committee was selected for the following year composed of Mrs. Alva Dyer, Mrs. Merle McAfee and Mrs. Harry Sharrett.

Refreshments were served. A simple and flavorful way of preparing fish fillets is to dot them with butter, top with sliced mushrooms or slit scallions; then put them in an air-tight packet of aluminum foil and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes or until packets puff up. Slit the top of packet to serve.

Pickaway Garden Club Holds Annual Covered Dish Dinner

The Pickaway Garden Club met at 6:30 p. m. Friday for its annual covered dish dinner at the Lutheran Parish House.

Mrs. Schubert Measamer opened the business meeting by having the secretary, Mrs. William Deffenbaugh give the roll call and read the minutes of the last meeting.

Mrs. Charles Thompson reported that shrubbery has been planted by the "Welcome to Circleville" sign on Route 23.

Mrs. James Moffitt announced the annual Rose Show will be held May 27 in the Lutheran Parish House.

Mrs. Luther Bower announced that due to the regional meeting April 7, the workshop will be scheduled for April 14. Members attending should bring their own line material. The Hobart Curve will be discussed and studied. An announcement of the workshop will appear later.

A letter was read from the American Assn. of University Women's Club regarding a scholarship fund.

Mrs. John Mast, program chairman, presented Donald L. Archer of the local department of Soil Conservation Service, who presented a program of "Conservation and You." A series of movies was shown to the group entitled, "Top Soil," "This Vital Earth," "Arteries of Life and Seeds of Destruction." Archer is a soil technician who works in cooperation with a panel of farmers. Any problems arising in soil conservation are first presented to this panel and with their assistance are worked out.

A new member elected into the club was Mrs. D. V. Archer.

Guests of members who were in attendance for the dinner were: Mrs. M. W. Burkhardt, Mrs. Clarence Hott, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Helen Morris, Mrs. M. E. Washburn, Mrs. D. V. Archer, Mr. Schubert Measamer, Mr. Charles Thompson, Mr. Loring Evans, Mr. John Mast and Mr. Donald L. Archer.

Flower arrangements were judged and awards presented to Mrs. Measamer, first; Mrs. Luther Bower, second; and Mrs. Paul Woods, third.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. George Fuhrman, chairman, Mrs. Fred Tammany, Miss Mary Heffner, Mrs. Schubert Measamer, Mrs. George Roth, Mrs. William Hagenbach and Mrs. Theodore Huston.

3 Boys Interrupted In Trucking Spree

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Boys will be boys, but those trucks weren't toys!

Three young boys, one 12 years old and the others 8, have admitted driving 10 dairy trucks around a parking lot, Dayton police report. The result: Damage to truck fenders estimated at $300.

Neal's Dairy garage superintendent caught them while they played with the heavy vehicles on a company lot and said they admitted they had done the same thing on a previous occasion.

Police said the boys have been ordered into juvenile court.

Automatic Clothes Dryer Aid To Housewife on Washday

Washday work and worry disappear for the housewife who has an automatic gas clothes dryer, as Miss Harriett Wolfe will demonstrate at the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute.

Gone are the arduous tasks of stooping, stretching and lugging of clothes to an outside line, plus all the extra movements and work involved in hanging up and taking down the family wash, Miss Wolfe will explain.

"With a dryer, there are no more worries about a sudden change in weather that used to prompt the housewife to dash to the clothesline to 'save' the washing," the Food Institute lecturer says.

Automatic clothes dryers also save time, freeing the lady of the house for other important duties—or more leisure. It takes just a few seconds to load a dryer, and only a short time for clothes to dry, she adds.

Here are other points made by Miss Wolfe:

Drying laundry in a dryer is good for the clothes. The life and beauty of a garment are preserved as wind whipping, impurities of the outside air, and the bleaching action of the sun are avoided.

REPORTS OF laboratory experiments show that clothes can be washed, dried over and over again in a clothes dryer, without fading or loss of brilliance.

Less ironing is needed with a dryer. For example, a velveteen dress, corduroy trousers, or woolen slacks can be "pressed" by putting them in the dryer with some-thing damp. A moistened bath towel or color-fast sponges are good. Let the dampened items tumble in the dryer with the garments to be "pressed" and then hang them up at once.

Of equal importance, an automatic dryer saves money. A smaller inventory of clothes is possible because they can be washed and dried faster and used more often, Miss Wolfe pointed out.

TV Highlights Of Week Noted

Sunday Not Lone Day For Top-Notch Fare

NEW YORK (AP) — Although Sunday has become the day for better than average television shows, there is something to be said for every day of the week (All times eastern standard).

Sunday at 1 over ABC the foreign ministers of the top NATO powers appear on a special edition of "College Press Conference." At 2:30 on CBS "The Great Challenge" presents the concluding part of a panel discussion on the current state of American journalism. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty will be among those discussing "Is the American Public Getting the Information It Needs?"

At the same hour NBC begins a two-hour program, "Sure As Death"—on the subject of federal and state tax problems.

"Art Carney Meets the Sorcerer's Apprentice" on ABC at 5. Carney is the only live actor with the life-like Baird Marionettes in this musical fable about a second-rate magician whose great ambition is to make a genie appear.

On NBC at the same time "Kaleidoscope" traces the development of the Broadway hit, "Sunrise at Campobello," from its original conception to final production. Dore Schary, Ralph Bellamy and others are featured.

As a reminder the television season is beginning to wane. "Small World" winds up its season on CBS at 6. Thomas E. Dewey, novelist Aldous Huxley and India Prime Minister Nehru, who began the program last fall, conclude it.

At 6:30 on CBS "20th Century"

New Gaslight To Be Awarded

The nostalgic glow of an old-fashioned gas lamp is going to grace the lawn of some Circleville home as the result of the appearance here of the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute.

A gas lamp is going to be given away at the Food Institute. The lucky winner will not only receive the lamp, but with the prize goes free installation of the unit, according to D. R. Cotterman, Circleville manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

This is one of the top prizes to be given during the Food Institute's showing here. Gas lamps are making a rapid comeback in popularity.

Picturesque but practical, the modern gas lamp promises to become more popular for outdoor lighting than it was even during the Gaslight Era.

For front lawns, patios, driveways, swimming pool areas, and even for doorways, the new gas light offers decorative outdoor lighting with dependable and economical natural gas.

According to some home owners, what's even more important is the air of distinction offered only by the gas lamp. There is nothing like the aura of comfort, security and general "homeyness" provided by the constant, mellow glow from the modern extension of American tradition, they say.

There'll be more and more gas lamps casting this glow in Circleville as time goes on—and there's tells the story of Germany's first experiment in democracy, the short-lived Weimar Republic, "From Kaiser to Fuehrer." At 8:30 on NBC, the premier of "Pete Kelly's Blues," postponed from last week.

New Kitchen Trend Toward Built-Ins

A built-in sectional gas range, like the one which is part of the stage equipment used for the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute, adds beauty and convenience to the modern kitchen.

More and more housewives are demanding built-in ranges—whether for a new home, or in remodeling their present kitchens. And with good reason, too.

As Food Institute Lecturer Harriett Wolfe explains, the fully automatic built-in oven assumes the role of the "vanishing servant."

"It allows me to spend less time in my kitchen . . . and cooking centers can be divided, placing them in the most convenient area," she says.

The oven section of the range can be installed at just the proper height to suit the convenience of the housewife. The top burner section can be placed at counter top level in the spot most desired.

THE BUILT-INS are available in a wide range of colors and finishes to harmonize with the housewife's decorating tastes.

And what's more important, Miss Wolfe points out, built-in ranges are available with full oven controls, broiler rotisseries, thermostatically-controlled top burners, meat thermometers, and top-of-the-counter griddles.

Airman Is 100,000 Feet Up As Wife Calls for Dinner

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Richard H. Tabor rapped on the window, shook her fist in mock anger, pointed to her wrist watch and told her husband it was time for dinner. She asked him to come back "from out there 100,000 feet on the edge of space."

Dinner was ready at home, the five children were waiting.

Lt. Richard Tabor, Navy doctor and airman, was sitting bundled up in a space suit in a test chamber where the air pressure had been dropped to that which would be found on the surface of the moon.

People peered in at him. The hands on dials on the outside of the pressure chamber pressure dropped—40,000 feet 60,000 feet, 80,000 feet, 100,000 feet.

Army Develops Tiny Electric Light, Radio Transmitter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has developed an electric light that is little larger than a pinhead and a radio transmitter about the size of a pencil eraser.

Perfect by the Army's Diamond Ordnance Fuze Laboratories, the minute items are for use in research and the study of temperatures in ballistic weapons research.

The lamp is one-tenth of an inch long and only 35 one-hundredths of an inch in diameter. It was designed for use on control panels in missile research and electric computers. The Army said that it may be used also for medical examinations, such as probes into tiny cavities.

The transmitter has been mounted in the head of a small bullet for research purposes. The device determines the temperature of a shell while in flight and instantaneously transmits information to ground receivers.

The test pressure chamber is at the naval air station here, where the Navy is peering toward the era of space travel. With volunteers like Lt. Tabor, it is learning what problems will confront man when he roams out into space.

At 100,000 feet, air and atmospheric pressure are virtually nonexistent. The conditions are those man would find if he walked in the valleys of the moon, say the Navy experts.

But Tabor's helmet and pressure suit keep his body at a tolerable pressure level of 35,000 feet latitude.

The pressure chamber at the naval air station seems like a quiet, safe sort of place. But, like space itself, danger lurks in that windowed, lighted chamber from which almost all air has been pumped.

At a simulated pressure of 60,000 feet altitude, the volunteer in the chamber would stay alive only about 70 seconds if his pressure suit failed. In an adjacent chamber two Navy hospitalmen, wearing oxygen masks, stand ready to move quickly if trouble occurs. Their chamber has a pressure representing 20,000 feet. They wear oxygen masks and keep an eye on Tabor through a porthole.

In Tabor's chamber, a beaker of water stands on a table. As the air pressure drops the water begins to boil. This is what would happen to the blood in Tabor's veins if he weren't protected by the space suit.

Tabor, a native of Charleston, W.Va., has been experimenting with designs of space suits and pressure chambers since 1956.

Thursday's demonstration by Dr. Tabor of the high altitude pressure chamber was a short test, lasting only long enough to make him late for dinner.

Last year Tabor conducted an endurance demonstration. For 72 hours he remained in the pressure chamber, under conditions found in space. He ate at intervals by flipping up the mask of his helmet, bolting and swallowing food before the airless condition of high altitude could knock him out.

Air Condition On Upswing

More Homes Get Cleaning Systems

Forward-looking home owners are including year-around gas air conditioning in their building or remodeling plans, according to Bob Eichhorn, manager of the Herald-Gasco Food and Modern Living Institute.

There are several good reasons:

1. Year-around air conditioning will provide clean, filtered cool or warm air as needed according to the season.

2. Within five years, building industry experts estimate, air conditioning will be installed in half the new homes built, and will be one of the essential factors in the market value of any house.

3. Gas year-around air conditioning, provided by a compact, single-unit is a dependable and economical heating-cooling system.

In addition, year-around air conditioning has been proven an aid to good health, whether it is winter or summer—or in between—the air that is circulated through a house by an air-conditioning unit is filtered to remove dust, pollen, and other impurities. With air circulation and ventilation, every room is draft-free and, at the same time, stagnant air is dispelled.

THE AIR FILTERING process is also valuable in that it keeps curtains and upholstery free from soiling dust and grime all year long—thus prolonging the life of furnishings.

The growing popularity of year-around air conditioning can be seen in figures tracing its acceptance across the country. In 1953, there were only 32,400 completely air conditioned homes in the U.S. In 1956, the number reached 132,300. In 1958, the total surpassed the half million mark.

Eichhorn pointed out that the gas company maintains a staff of representatives trained to assist homeowners in planning year-around air conditioning systems.

Girl Can't Star in Western; Too Many Men and Horses

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are TV Westerns unfair to actresses? A lovely charmer named Lisa Gaye thinks so.

"I shouldn't really complain," she admitted. "I've played in most of them. I've done two Tombstone Territories, two Bat Mastersons. I've been in Black Saddle, Wyatt Earp, Wells Fargo, and I'm doing a Colt 45 now."

"Sure, it's nice to be working, but what can a girl do in a Western? They're mostly about men and horses. I'd like to have my own series. But Westerns are the thing nowadays. And a girl can't star in a Western."

There's another thing. The Western heroes are so blamed tall. "I'm 5 feet 5 and can get up to 5 feet 8 with heels," she said. "I had to give Wayne Preston a kiss today. He's 6 feet 4, and you can add a couple of inches for his boots. They had me stand on a board so I could reach him. Even so, I could only get as far as kissing his chin."

Lisa is doing well in TV despite her complaints. She has done 160 films—half of them Westerns—in two and a half years since leaving Universal-International. Last year she was out of a job only three weeks. That's mighty good for a free-lancer.

She can thank the U-I training for much of her success. She went through the studio talent school back in the days when she was chiefly known as Debra Paget's sister. After leaving U-I, she did one movie, "10,000 Bedrooms," then latched onto the TV market. She now earns $20,000 and can afford to turn down roles that don't suit her.

She's a new generation of performer—one who has no great awe of movies. Said she: "Yes, I'd like to do a picture; they're good for prestige. But TV shows are seen by two or three times more people, and they mean more to me right now."

Tarantula Request Is Coldly Ignored

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP) — The Prescott Chamber of Commerce has a request it doesn't intend to fulfill.

Clerk Mercy Wagner received this letter from Robert Liles of Venita, Ore.:

"Send me a tarantula. Ship it to me in a box alive. If you can't find one, tell me where I can. Thank you."

Public Hearings Stated On 3 Highway Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Highway Department has scheduled three public hearings on proposed road construction.

One will be held April 16 in Urbana to discuss plans for eliminating several hazardous curves on Ohio 29 in Champaign County. The project would cost $211,000.

Another will be held in Logan April 15 to explain proposals to eliminate three sections of hazardous curves on Ohio 664 in Hocking County. It would cost nearly $400,000.

The third hearing will be April 16 in Chardon, to discuss a 1½-mile relocation of U.S. 422 in Geauga County at a cost of 1½ million dollars.

State Ruling Outlined On Student Attendance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The attorney general has ruled that children are not meeting the state compulsory attendance law if they attend an elementary school which does not meet State Board of Education standards.

In the same opinion to Auglaize County Prosecutor James I. Shaw, McElroy ruled that the local board of education has authority under the statutes to levy local taxes and spend public money for operating the school.

Gauga Maple Festival To Wind Up Sunday

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — A crowd of 100,000 persons is expected at the two-day windup of the 30th annual Gauga County Maple Festival this weekend. U. S. Sen. John W. Kennedy (D-Mass.) will participate in several events although no speech is scheduled. The festival closes at 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

Capehart Readies New Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) says he will introduce a completely new farm bill in Congress within two weeks.

"It is a new approach, has new ideas," the senator said Thursday night, when he announced he was preparing the bill.

"The administration farm policy has broken down. We need new thoughts and ideas," Capehart said. But he denied he was leading any clique in Congress or the Republican party in a revolt against the Eisenhower administration's farm program.

The senator would not disclose the specific provisions of his bill but said: "In general, it will provide for reducing surpluses, increasing farm prices, and getting the taxpayers out of the farm business."

Orioles To Lack Heavy Hitting

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The best thing the Baltimore Orioles have going is their spacious ball park, where the home run is more of a wish than a fact.

Cagey Paul Richards has built a team that is ideally suited for Memorial Stadium. The Orioles are rich in pitching, tight in defense but poor in punch.

The Orioles made the fewest hits and scored the fewest runs in the American League last year but their pitchers allowed the fewest home runs, 106.

Except for Gus Triandos, who tied a league record for catchers by hitting 30 home runs last year; and Bob Nieman and Gene Woodling, who hit 16 and 15 homers respectively, Baltimore is a team of singles hitters.

Willie Tasby, the Louisville graduate who has sewed up the center field job, may add some much needed punch. The American Ass'n's rookie of the year for 1958 smashed 22 home runs and drove in 95 runs on a .322 batting average.

Richards also hopes to get some hitting help from Chico Carrasquel and Billy Klaus, infielders who came via trades from other clubs. "We think we're a little better," said Richards. "We're trying a little punch. There's no doubt Tasby can do the job defensively. He looks like he'll hit."

The Orioles finished sixth last year, 17½ games off the pace. Does Richards think they can finish higher?

"Possibly," he replied. "Generally we feel we're a little better. We're stronger in pitching and defense. We're desperate for hitting."

Pitching is what keeps Richards from talking to himself. Paul has a solid young Big Four comprised of right-handers Arnold Pottocarero (15-11) and Milt Pappas (10-10) and left-handers Billy O'Dell (14-11) and Jack Harshman (12-15).

This quartet will be supported by Hector Brown (7-5) and Hoyt (no-hit) Wilhelm (3-10) as spot starters. George Zuverker (2-2) leads the bullpen staff.

The outfield, with Al Pilarcik (.243), Tasby, and Woodling (.276) and Nieman (.325) alternating in left, is set. The infield will be, too, when Brooks Robinson soon returns from the Army to take over at third base.

Bob Boyd (.309) and Whitey Lockman, the ex-Giant (.238), will handle first base; Billy Gardner (.225) is set at second and Carrasquel (.234) will open at shortstop.

King Named Most Valuable At Centralia

Elwood King was named Centralia's Most Valuable Player last night during basketball banquet ceremonies held in the Bulldog gymnasium.

King nudged out teammate Sonny Harrison for MVP honors. Guest speaker of the evening was Ramon A. Mears, head basketball coach at Wittenberg College.

Mears outlined for the more than 150 attending what he desires in a basketball player. Mears just completed his third year at Wittenberg and has run up a record of 28 straight home court victories.

The youthful college pilot sports a 53-12 won-loss record in his three year stay at Wittenberg, plus an Ohio Conference league title this past season.

THE BANQUET was prepared by the Colerain Church Ladies Aid. Toastmaster for the evening was Mr. Townsend. Song selections were rendered by the girls' quartet of Peg Harker, Doris Arledge, Sally Hinton and Shelby Weaver.

Head Coach Richard Smith made the junior high and varsity award presentation. Reserve Coach Bob Sigler awarded the reserve letters.

Reserve letters went to co-captains, Donald and Ronald Montgomery, Justin; Donald Ault and John Austin, sophomores, who lettered last year; James Lyons and John Allen, sophomores, and freshmen Jim Payne, Monty Hinton and Chuck Schiff.

Gary Conway was the manager. The reserves finished the year with an 11-4 record and third in league play.

Junior high lettermen were Paul Miller, Ronnie Adkins, David Payne, James Uhrig, Steve Good, Jay Arledge, Tom Linton, Jack Conley and co-captains, Gary Miller and Tom Breeden.

Managers were Mike Short, second letter, and Thurman Imboden. Junior high cheerleaders were Cheryl McGee, Shirley Harrison, Linda Karshner and Vicky Brown.

Varsity lettermen were Tom Haynes, Gary McNeal, Sonny Harrison and Jerry Kutschbach. Senior medal awards went to Russ Mettler, King and Chuck Weaver. Mettler won the foul shooting medal. Weaver and King were co-captains. Weaver won the Sportsmanship Award. Manager letters were awarded Bruce Copeland and Dale Patterson.

VERSATILE — Junior Larry Hannahs warms up with the shot in preparation for Circleville High School's first track meet this season, scheduled Tuesday at Wilmington.

Hannahs, a solid performer in football and basketball for CHS, can heave the shot and discus, run the hurdles and hold his own in relay events. He is one of the few lettermen returning to Coach John Current's squad this year. (Staff Photo)

5 Teams Enter Local League

Sixth Squad Slated To Join Circuit

To date five teams have agreed to enter the Circleville Night Softball League, with the possibility that a sixth squad will join the group.

In a league meeting here last night, it was announced that five teams are in the process of signing up for the league. They are the Circleville Merchants, Stonerock's TV (formerly Top Hat), River Oil of Chillicothe, General Electric and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Laurelville marks the sixth team which probably will enter the circuit.

Mike Brown, president of the league, said there will be three rounds of play this season, with action slated to start May 4. In the first two rounds doubleheaders will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

THE THIRD round of action calls for single games to be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

Brown said the next league meeting is scheduled April 12 at the Modern Woodmen Hall in the local Masonic Temple, S. Court St. The session will start at 7:30 p. m.

Rain Forces Postponement

Circleville High School's baseball game scheduled at Chillicothe yesterday was postponed due to a rain shower.

CHS Coach Dick Fisher said the game will be rescheduled for Thursday at Chillicothe. The game was postponed at about 2:30 p. m. yesterday when it was learned that the enemy diamond was too wet for play.

The postponement will require the Tigers to open their season here Tuesday in regularly scheduled test with the Chillicothe outfit, providing rain doesn't interfere.

On Saturday the CHS nine will travel to Athens for a doubleheader, indicating a busy week for the locals.

Scott Convincing In Logart Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Within less than three weeks Charley Scott has proved himself an audacious young fellow with a total lack of respect for his boxing elders.

If there was any question before, Scott erased it Friday night by punching Isaac Logart groggy and whipping the veteran from Cuba on a third-round technical knockout.

Six Returning Lettermen Bolster Saltcreek Track

A strong Saltcreek contingent will compete in track this year as Coach Bob Sanders greeted six returning lettermen on opening day of track practice.

The Warriors will be potent in the dashes, mile, half-mile, pole vault and broad jump. They are rather thin in team strength but Gary Valentine and Jack Fout should be outstanding in their respective events.

A promising group of sophomores should become rugged competitors as they gain experience. Freshman Roger Clarke, a four event winner in junior high track last year, will give Fout stiff competition in the dashes.

A potential mile relay team looms on the horizon in the forms of twins Denny and Kenny Valentine, Damon Fox and George Clifton, all sophomores.

LETTERMEN ARE G. Valentine, Fout, Keith Turvey, Clifton and the Valentine twins. G. Valentine will compete in the shot put, pole vault, mile and half-mile.

During last year's meet he placed second in the half-mile; won the mile in 5:13; was fifth in the discus with a toss of 105' 2"; Fourth in the pole vault with a leap of 8' 6", and second in the shot put with a toss of 36' 6-1/2".

John Lucas will compete in the mile and relays.

Other track men and their respective events are Fout, 100, 220 and 440-yards runs and the broad jump; Turvey, hurdles, high jump, discus and relays;

Bob Bowser, 100 and 220-yard runs and relays; Clifton, hurdles, discus, pole vault and relays; Denny Valentine, half-mile, pole vault and relays;

Kenny Valentine, mile, relays and high jump; Fox, half-mile and relays; Robert Willey, half-mile and relays; Chuck Spangler, high jump, discus and relays, and Clarke, 100, 220 and 440-yard runs and the broad jump.

SALT CREEK WINNERS in last year's Pickaway County track meet were Fout, second in the 100-yard dash; second in the 880 yard relays with members Clifton, Dean, Jordan and Fout;

Fourth in the one mile relay with members Chaney, Hayes, Clifton and Beougher; Clifton, second in the pole vault with a leap of 10';

Fout, second in the broad jump at 18' 7" and Jordan third with an 18' 6" leap. The Warriors were second in last year's meet with 414 points trailing winning Ashville by 124 points.

County Is High In Sale of Fish, Hunting Permits

According to the State Auditor's office, Pickaway County sold 4,252 resident hunting licenses and 3,422 resident fishing licenses during the past season.

The auditor's office noted that sportsmen paid nearly 3½ million dollars for licenses to hunt and fish in Ohio during the last license year. In all, the state issued 875,766 licenses to fish; 692,747 licenses to hunt; and 46,466 deer hunting permits.

Fishing licenses produced $1,805,444 in revenue; hunting licenses, $1,435,245; and deer hunting permits, $232,330. The total was $78,000 more than last year.

These figures cover the fishing license year Mar. 1, 1957 to Feb. 28, 1958, and the hunting license year, Sept. 1, 1957 to Aug. 30, 1958.

Gene Green, St. Louis Cardinal rookie, grounded into 24 double plays in 1958.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Sounds Like a Store Dummy

DEAR ABBY: I was in a big store shopping for an Easter party. I was picking out bunnies and chicks and little things for table decorations. I couldn't hold every thing in my hands so I asked the floor manager if he would give me a sack, while I shopped some more. He said, "No" and I said, "Why not?" He said "Because you could walk out the door without paying for them." I said, "If that was my intention I should have brought my own sack." He just turned his back on me. I am still plenty burned up about this and if I had more time I'd have dumped everything on the counter and shopped elsewhere. Don't you think a good store should provide baskets for their shoppers?

DEAR STILL: Indeed I do. And the store where you shopped also could have provided a more tactful floor manager.

DEAR ABBY: A lady wrote to your column and complained that her husband "lost" four hankies in one week. Well, I love her best. My husband lost two pair of under wear in three days! He comes home drunk and can't remember anything. When I accuse him of running around he says I'm crazy. How should I handle this?

DEAR HAD: Go with him and see that he doesn't lose his shirt.

DEAR ABBY: I went to my doctor for a check-up and he said I should lose ten pounds and he put me on a diet. My husband doesn't think I am over weight and said if I lost ten pounds I would be a bag of bones and he would have to shake the sheets to find me. Should I obey my doctor or my husband?

DEAR ABBY: On matters of your health, listen to your doctor. Your husband is still dreaming about the Gibson girl.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were asked to be Godparents for a baby who was born to some so-so friends of ours. I don't want to be snobbish, but we can't imagine why they asked us because we rarely see them and surely they must have closer friends than we are. My husband says to tell them we would rather not be Godparents and I say we should go through with it and get it over with. Have you any suggestions? By the way, what are the obligations and duties of Godparents, anyway?

DEAR JUST: Call their clergyman and find out exactly what the "duties and obligations" of Godparents are in their church. If you do not want the responsibility, by all means decline in a few very diplomatic words.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Aside from playing host to vacationists, Florida is also an important manufacturing state. Chemicals, paper, lumber products are principal items.

3,000 Boy Scouts

Slated To Carry Torch for Pan Am

CHICAGO (AP)—The Friendship Fire Torch to burn at the Pan American Games Aug. 27-Sept. 7 will be carried 1,464 miles by 3,000 Boy Scouts.

Pan Am officials said the torch-carrying ceremony sets a high in sports history for the longest route traveled and the biggest relay team participating.

The route is measured from Laredo, Tex., to Soldier Field in Chicago, scene of track competition in which 26 nations of North, Central and South America, plus the Caribbean Islands, will be represented.

Mexican Boy Scouts will deliver the torch from Mexico City, site of the 1955 games, to the border at Laredo Aug. 4. U.S. Boy Scouts then will take over.

Using the scout pace—roughly 50 steps, walk 50 steps—the boys in relays will cover approximately 60 miles a day, reaching Chicago Aug. 26.

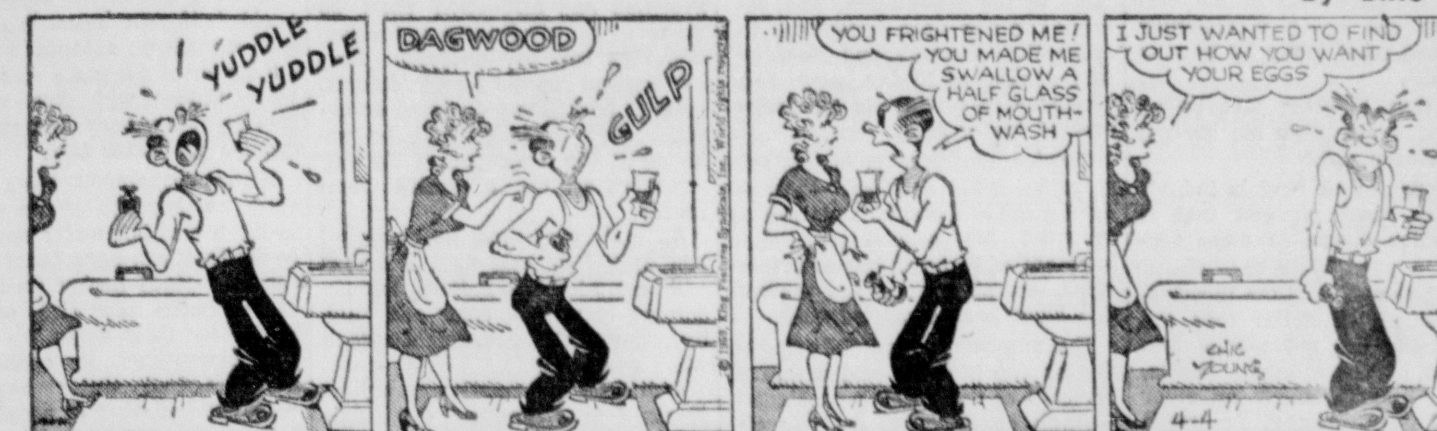

Four of the six American Hockey League coaches are former New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Shield Sought Against Hike In Living Cost

Escalator Clause On Wages Is Help; Investments Studied

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Shields against a future rise in the cost of living are being increasingly sought and tried today by harried Americans.

Fear that inflation will be on the prowl again after the current lull is widespread.

Rising prices hit first in today's bills. One guard against that is an escalator clause in wage contracts.

Then the erosion of the purchasing power of the dollar robs the investor who has put money into insurance, U.S. Savings Bonds, pensions, bank accounts or other forms of fixed income. To guard against that investors are turning to common stocks, variable annuities, gold, gems, art treasures, real estate and sometimes commodities.

The Labor Department says four million workers are now covered by cost of living escalator clauses in their wage contracts.

Some countries are trying escalator clauses for their bonds—that is, tying interest payments to the cost of living. Social Security checks similarly tied have been suggested for this nation by a few. And the variable annuity plans propose a like escalator—payments varying with the results of investing the funds in common stocks.

Critics of escalator clauses contend they inspire a circle. The cost of living goes up, wages go up, production costs go up, prices go up, the cost of living is up again, etc.

Gold as an inflation hedge is widely used abroad. Americans can't buy gold from their Treasury but they can buy it in Switzerland and Canada and store it there. But there are storage charges and no return on the investment until — and a big if — the price of gold goes up.

Precious stones are often good inflation hedges. But there are costs of safe storage, insurance and reselling.

Of late there's been a rush to art treasures and antiques. There have been astounding rises in the prices of some of these. You have to be an expert to pick out the right art objects. And even then you can't predict future changes in tastes and fashions.

Advancing real estate prices have helped many offset the fall in the purchasing power of the dollar. But you had to have the right real estate in the right place.

The same goes for common stocks. If you picked winners you're sitting pretty. But there are many stocks selling for less now than in 1946.

Vaccine Predicted To Curtail Colds

CHICAGO (AP)—An expert today predicted a vaccine that will prevent from 60 to 70 per cent of all common colds probably will be available within the next two years.

Dr. Thomas G. Ward, professor of virology at the University of Notre Dame, said he believes a vaccine can be developed against "an acceptable proportion of the common colds."

He said 75 to 80 per cent of common colds are caused by a group of viruses or a group of bacteria of the streptococcus type.

Vaccines made from dead or tamed viruses can be injected into the body and develop resistance against viruses.

"I realize that I have stuck my neck out," Dr. Ward commented in an interview in Today's Health, a magazine published by the American Medical Assn.

But No Tickets For the Police?

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A police crew set out after a driver seen running a red light at Cherry street and Delaware avenue today and chased him to Cherry and Noble streets where there was another red light.

There, the motorist stopped. The police crew didn't.

Demolished was the front end of the police cruiser. Damage to the other automobile was negligible.

Dr. Ojars Podine, 47, was given a ticket for running a red light by Patrolmen Arnold J. Grimes, driver of the police car, and Elmer Scsavnicki, his partner.

Southern Ohio Pig Group Sets First Sale at Hillsboro

By George Hamrick
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture
The Southern Ohio Feeder Pig Improvement Assn. will hold its first feeder pig sale at Hillsboro May 8.

Membership in the feeder pig association is open to any southern Ohio farmer who consigns pigs to the association. The association has been organized to advertise, promote and improve the quality of feeder pigs and improve the welfare of the growers of feeder pigs.

Consignment of pigs to this sale must be made not less than 20 days prior to the sale. Pigs will be accepted for consignment upon payment of 25 cents per head provided that all rules of the association have been complied with.

The number of pigs delivered to the auction is to be held within 10 per cent of the number consigned. Animals consigned to the sale will be inspected by a director of the association, a county agent or vocational agriculture teacher, or a representative of the market conducting the sale.

Farm vaccination is encouraged. Pigs that are treated on the farm must be treated with the Modified Live Virus and Serum (rabbit) not less than 15 days prior to the sale. Form H. C. No. 1 must be signed by the veterinarian and accompany the pigs to the sale.

Non-treated pigs will be vaccinated at the yard in the same manner and cost of the vaccination will be paid by consignor.

ONLY HEALTHY PIGS will be accepted and inspection shall be made at the dock by a veterinarian. Pigs that are unthrifty, having serious physical defects, mange, contagious diseases or obvious worm infection will be rejected at the discretion of the veterinarian or the executive committee.

All male pigs must be castrated and healed by sale day. The pigs will be graded into uniform lots according to weight, color and quality, using a 10-pound weight spread when practical.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting George Hamrick, County Extension Agent, Agriculture, or the County Extension Service at 150½ E. Main St.

Water Heater Needs Thought

Each Family Should Check Own Uses

Hot water is something most of us take for granted—that is, until we run out of it just when we're ready for a nice relaxing bath.

Then it becomes just about the most important thing in the house.

Running out of hot water can be avoided, if your house is equipped with a modern, automatic gas water heater of adequate size. Such a water heater will give years of service at low operating costs, and provide hot water fast.

Home economists have discovered that because of the variance in the use of hot water among different families, each family should carefully study its hot water needs to determine the size of water heater for their home.

Considerations in choosing an adequate-sized water heater include: the number of people in the family, the number of bathrooms in the home, and the type of laundry equipment used.

WITH MODERN water heaters, the water is cleaner, too, as tanks are lined with aluminum or glass. This type of lining eliminates the rust problems that occur with outdated heaters.

Modern automatic water heaters also are equipped with water temperature dials, with which the heat of the water can be controlled with just a twist of the wrist.
